DETAILED ACTION

Amendment

The amendment timely filed on June 29, 2004 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) and the Intellectual Property and High Technology Technical Amendments Act of 2002 do not apply when the reference is a U.S. patent resulting directly or indirectly from an international application filed before November 29, 2000. Therefore, the prior art date of the reference is determined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

Claims 1-3 and 5-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Picher-Dempsey U.S. Patent No. 6,779,031 ('Picher-Dempsey').

Picher-Dempsey discloses:

Art Unit: 2164

As to claim 1,

periodical message receiving means for receiving a periodic message delivered periodically onto one network for reading in data; See 1:52-60; 4:59-65;

memory means for storing the data of said periodic message; See 1:52-60; 4:59-65;

message value change detecting means for detecting the change of the value of the data stored in said memory means; See 1:60-65; 5:51-60; and event message sending means for delivering the data stored in said memory means as a message on another network when said message value change detecting means detects a change of the value of the data; See Figure 2; 5:5-24 and 56-63.

As to claim 2,

event message receiving means for receiving an even message event message delivered onto one network in response to an event or demand for reading in data; See Figure 2; 1:52-60; 5:5-24 and 56-63;

memory means for storing the event message data of said event message; See Figure 2; 5:5-24 and 56-63; and periodical message sending means for delivering periodically the data stored in said memory means as a message on a different network; See Figure 2; 5:5-24 and 56-63.

As to claim 3, a first network to which at least one device for performing periodically the sending or receiving of a message is connected; See Figure 2; 1:52-60; 4:59-65;

a second network to which at least one device for performing the sending or receiving of a message in response to an event or demand is connected; See Figure 2; 5:5-24 and 56-63; and a gateway (router) connected to said first and second networks, said gateway having periodical message receiving means for receiving messages which said first network sends periodically, memory means for storing the message received by said periodical message receiving means, message value change detecting means for detecting the change of the value of the data included in the message stored in said memory means, and event message sending means for producing a message from the data stored in said memory means when said message value change detecting means detects a change of the value of the data, and for delivering the produced message to said network; See Figure 2; 4:59-65; 5:5-24 and 56-63.

As to claim 5,

a first network on which a message generated at a predetermined time interval resides; See 1:52-60; 4:59-65;

a second network on which a message generated in response to an event or demand resides; See Figure 2; 5:5-24 and 56-63; and a gateway (router) connected to said first and second network having a memory part and a processing part; See Figure 2; 5:5-24 and 56-63;

said processing part of said gateway causing to memorize in said memory part of the message generated by said first network at a predetermined time interval, detecting a change of the value of the data included in said memorized part of the message, producing a message from the data memorized in said memory part when a change of the value of the data is detected, and delivering said produced message to said second network; See Figure 2; 5:5-24 and 56-63.

As to claim 6,

wherein said processing part causes to memorize in said memory part of the message generated in response to an event or demand from said second network, and delivers said memorized part of the message to said first network at a predetermined time interval; See Figure 2; 5:5-24 and 56-63.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-3 and 5-6 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

All wable Subject Matter

Claim 4 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
